mors of Internal Troube.

The Sisterhood of Sorosia is not as Several of the ladies protested against this ruling, and others said in very audible tones to Mrs. Kidder, "Sit down," "Don't you go," when that lady rose to retire. However, the ruling was enforced, and the society then proceeded to consider proposals for membership. Miss Crabtree's name was the first on the list. She had been proposed by Mrs. Edward E. Kidder, and seconded by Mrs. Bydney Rosenfeld, Mrs. A. M. Palmer and Miss Georgia Cayvan. It is said that in the discussion which followed the only objection made to Miss Crabtree was that she was an actress. Other ladies of the stage, however, are members of Sorosis among them being said that in the discussion which followed the only objection made to Miss Crabtree was that she was an actress.

Other ladies of the stage, however, are members of Sorosis, among them being Miss Cayvan, who is a shining light of the Society, and Mrs. Kidder. When the ballot was announced, however, and it was learned that Lotts has been rejected by seven votes, against 210 in her favor, there was a burst of indignation from the great majority.
The announcement of the Chairman was received with hisses, and several of the ladies got up and denounced the blackballing of the popular actress as an outrage and an insult to the members who had proposed the candidate. Mrs.
Palmer and Mrs. Kidder resigned from forosis on the spot, and a very bitter feeling prevalled.
After this, according to the account of an eyewitness of the scene, the meeting became thoroughly demoralized. Another candidate was proposed and rejected in the same manner, and then objections were made to Mrs. Thaddeus Wakeman, who was also a candidate, on the ground that her husband was an Anarchist, and her rame was withdrawn, amid great confusion.
The result was that the names of all other candiates to come up at the meeting were withdrawn by their proposers, as it was eyident that nothing could be accomplished while such excitement prevailed, and the meeting broke up without transacting any further business.
What the end will be no outsider can venture to predict, and even the members themselves are said to be unable to form any opinion.

Miss Crabtree says she regards her rejection as due solely to the fact that she is an actress. In fact she was warned beforehand that there might be opposition to her on this account. However she says she has no ill-feeling towards the ladies who voted against her, since she knows that the great majority was on her side:

Mrs Sydney koseafeld is of the opinion in her power to have the Board of Directors increased, and that they shall pass upon all applications for membership so that future candidates shall be snared the mortification of being blackballed.

Mrs. Rebecca A Morse, an ex-Vice-President of Sorons, said she was shocked to he ar that the stormy session had been made public. With regard to the rejection or Miss Crabree, she thought it was due to the fact that the candidate did not come up to the requirements.

candidate did not come up to the re-quirements.

The other candidates, she thought, would come up again at the next meeting, for the members had lost their heads after the first disappointment, and other rejections had followed as a matter of course. In other words, the meeting had become demoralized, and in the excitement of the occasion all business was blocked. According to the by-laws of Sorosis, it requires five black balls to reject a candidate.
